

Plant Operator

Te Awamutu

PGG Wrightson Grain is one of New Zealand's leading arable industry businesses. The business operates throughout New Zealand and provides products and services to New Zealand's arable growers, livestock producers and to food and feed manufacturers.

We are currently seeking a full time Plant Operator to join our Grain team, based in Te Awamutu. The Plant Operator is responsible for receiving, delivering and drying grain, completion of documentation, taking test samples of the grain, operating machinery and equipment, ensuring compliance standards are met as well as meeting customer needs.

Also a key component of this role will be bagging and manufacturing added value grain products through our plant which runs in conjunction with the grain drying operation.

If you are interested in applying for this role please email your application to applications@pggwrightsonseeds.co.nz with an up to date CV and covering letter or send your application to Alexis Gray, HR Advisor, PO Box 292, Christchurch 8140.

If you would like to see a full position description for this role please contact Alexis Gray on 03 372 0947 or email applications@pggwrightsonseeds.co.nz. Applications close 5pm, 1 March 2012.
