It was a solid sale this morning in Napier. You could literally throw a woollen blanket over the basic body wool prices at present, and it appears there is little to no advantage given for micron as the Hogget wools appear on the market. The market could be reported to be in sellers favour today.
With a number of other companies not offering any wool at the National wool auction the PGG Wrightson catalogue is enjoying the full support of all buyers through its selling period.
Passings on growers account were around 6%
