Commentary,

The purchasing of wool in the auction today was well spread between the buyers. More good styled wool was offered forward and this commanded strong bidding and sold again at very good levels in comparison to where we have been. Oddments were steady in price. It looks as though lambs wool is coming towards the end of its cycle in the buying department and stayed at a similar level to the last couple of sales. A surprise today was a good lift in price for some second shear lambs wool which had been left with minimal interest for a long time now.

Kind regards,
