North Island Strong Wool Indicator

Commentary

A relatively small sale consisting of approximately 6500 bales has helped lift the price of most wool types today. Of note was a large lift in price for some poorer styled wools that have not seen a lot of competition for some time. If you have any wool sitting around it could be a good time to talk to your PGGW wool representative about offering it to the market as wool flow will be slow for a while due to weather conditions and also a start to lambing in some areas.
