A small drop in the market indicator was felt today but this would be closely related to a smaller offering of super and very good styled wools that were marketed this morning.

Oddments really struggled again and any high levels of vegetable matter that were seen were discounted as well.

A feature of the sale today saw a well prepared, very good coloured line of finer second shear command very strong bidding and ending up over 50% dearer than the same type of wools offered in the previous Napier sale.
