The North Island wool market strengthened further at today’s auction, with the Market Indicator having a 9% lift from the previous sale, driven by broad-based gains across all types and styles. Many lines hit well into the 400 cents clean (COF) range, reflecting strong buyer competition and renewed confidence. Long hogget wool sold exceptionally well, with premiums exceeding expectations due to strong interest in fine, long types. We believe the prices are a combination of strong demand, reduced volumes on offer, and favourable exchange rates.
