“ The market continues to break new ground as buyers scramble to secure volumes to meet commitments from a very restricted supply on the open market.

All levels of wool types continued to lift from the 5100 bale offering, which was just under half the expected rostered amount. Very keen interest was also shown for the limited amount of fine wools.

Reports from across the industry of a shortfall in supply is going to continue in the short term before pre-lamb shearing gets underway. - Dave Burridge, Auction Manager
